DEMOCRATS

Turn Cold Shoulder to Plans of Haly and Beckham Forward Club.

Frankfort Supporters of Former Dictator Prominent at the Banquet.

Local Republicans Will Center Strength on County Commissioner Nominations.

LORAIN MIX FOR COUNTY JUDGE

Democrats throughout the State are still discussing the attempt of the Haly-Beckham gang to obtain control of the Democratic party through the assistance of the Forward League, a new organization which is to be used principally in pulling the Haly-Beckham chestnuts out of the fire. There was one sad disappointment for the opening gun of the Forward League campaign. The Democrats did not warm up for a minute over the appearance of Grape-Julee Bryan, as they realize that Bryan's sole aim in life is to advertise Bryan first, last and all the time, knowing that advertising will enhance his value as a lousy lecture performer. Instead of enthusing Kentucky Democracy, Bryan's appearance had just the opposite effect. In fact his presence here was just like flaunting the proverbial red flag in front of a bull. That the Forward Club League was a little pet project of the Haly-Beckham machine is shown by the list of Frankfort people who attended, many of them being known as strong Haly adherents or either holding office when Gen. Percy was handling out the pie.

The following are the Frankfort people who accepted invitations and attended the opening of the Haly-Beckham campaign for control of Kentucky Democracy: Judge James H. Polk Grove, T. M. Jones, Elwood Hamilton, H. V. McNeasey, Keene McGinnis, J. A. Scott, G. C. Shaw, Kelly C. Smithers, M. M. Hogan, M. J. Meagher, D. P. Richardson, Guy H. Vanant, N. T. Harrod, R. W. Keenon, Herman Holland, Virgil Chapman, Rev. Benjamin Andres Dunn Moss, George L. Hanney, W. S. Rossen, W. C. Marshall, Paul Meagher, F. M. Dailey, J. M. Sullivan and other lesser lights. The party was chaperoned by Beckham and Haly. Many of these will now be found advocating a prohibition platform in the Democratic party, while Gen. Percy will keep in the background making the balls for them to fire. The intention was for our own gentlemen from Frankfort to introduce resolutions committing the Democratic party to prohibition, but this move was sidetracked for the time being because of the cool reception received by Bryan and the Forwarders.

Local Republicans are still in a turmoil over the coming election and the Chilton-Searey faction are holding nightly meetings in the Herald office trying to agree on a slate for the primary, while the anti-machine faction are also meeting to place a rival ticket in the field. Representative Dover, who resides in the county, wants to run for Sheriff, and will probably have the backing of Dr. Lewis Ryans, Joe Conkling and others who are in bad standing with the Chilton-Searey combine. It is rumored that the Chilton-Searey faction want Mass for Mayer, Herman Monroe for Sheriff, Matt Chilton for County Attorney, Robert Lucas for Police Court Prosecutor, Gus Neurath for Police Court Bailiff, Squire Samuels for Police Court Judge, and W. C. Owens for County Judge. One Republican identified with the Chilton-Searey machine says that they are not going to be particular in selecting the local ticket and will fit with any old material, with the exception of the nominees for County Commissioner, and for these offices are going to make a determined effort to select leading and representative Republican business men with the hope of the latter carrying through any scrubs they may select for the other offices.

Announcements are coming thick and fast for the Democratic nominations, among them being Loraine Mix, who is now officially in the race for County Judge and has received pledges of support from many prominent Democratic leaders. Many of the union molders are soliciting support for Councilman Mike McDermott for Bailiff of the Police Court, he being a member of that union. Andrew M. Sea is officially in the race for City Treasurer, while Dolph Schmitt is expected to announce for Tax Receiver. Pres Ray has already gone to extensive advertising because of rumored opposition from Charles Milliken, while friends of Attorney Will McDonough want him to get in the race. Allen Smith has also set a hot pace for County Assessor and will probably have no opposition. Senator Charley Knight will have no opposition for re-election, having been a good advocate not only for his district but a staunch supporter of the local Democracy. George Barrett in the First ward, Adam Spahn in the Second and Third, "Bilby" Kuhl in the Fourth and Fifth, Mazey O'Brien in the Sixth and Seventh, Will Perry in the Eighth and Ninth, will all be candidates for re-election, while the friends of Will Duffy want him to announce for Senator in the Thirtieth district.

Next Wednesday will be known as "novelty night" at the Knights of Columbus meeting, which will be in charge of the Introduction Committee, and Dr. E. P. Marcellat, Chairman of that committee, promises an interesting treat to the members who attend.

MOURN HIS DEATH.

The joyous spirit of New Year's was turned into sadness for the friends and relatives of Patrick J. Lally, the widely known and popular street car inspector, when it became known that he had succumbed to pneumonia, following an illness of only a week. Pat Lally was well known to everybody in Louisville, where he had resided for years. He had numberless friends among the railway men and traveling public, and everybody who met him was better for the acquaintance. The deceased was reared in Portland and in 1876 obtained employment with the railway company as a driver and conductor of mule cars. Eight years later he was appointed a United States storekeeper-gauger, under the first administration of President Grover Cleveland, holding the position four years. He then returned to the car service as a conductor. Later he had charge of the street car transfer station at Fourteenth and Main streets, where he was located several years. For nearly a quarter of a century he had been an inspector. Although at times he was assigned to other lines, most of his service had been on the Fourth street and Second street cars. Here he had charge of heavy traffic and in looking after the welfare of the High School girls using cars in going to and from school. His wife died several years ago, but surviving him are a son, Roy Lally, a traveling salesman; a daughter, Mrs. Nannie Hess; three brothers, Michael, John and William Lally, and a sister, Mrs. Mary Litzelwospe. The funeral was held Tuesday morning from the Cathedral, employees who had been associated with him for many years serving as pallbearers.

CARRANZA CONSUL ARRESTED.

Juan T. Burns, Carranza Consul General at New York, was arrested Wednesday charged with being concerned in a conspiracy to ship arms and ammunitions to Vera Cruz in violation of President Wilson's embargo proclamation of October, 1915. Three indictments have been brought against Burns, it was learned. Aside from the alleged conspiracy to violate the President's proclamation, the defendant is accused also of deceiving the customs authorities by falsely manifesting ammunition shipments as hardware. The arrest, made by special agents of the Department of Justice, is the outcome of a raid on the offices of an importing and exporting company operated recently by Mexicans, and of the arrest of a man named Reuben Mier, at Houston, Texas. Mier was formerly employed at New York in the Mexican Consulate. Prior to coming to New York about one year ago as Consul General for the Carranza Government, Burns was representative of Gen. Carranza and Consul for his government at Galveston, having been sent there from El Paso shortly after the present Mexican Government became a factor in the affairs of the country. He succeeded as Consul General in New York Dr. Alfredo Catureggi, now financial representative here of the Carranza Government.

REQUIEM.

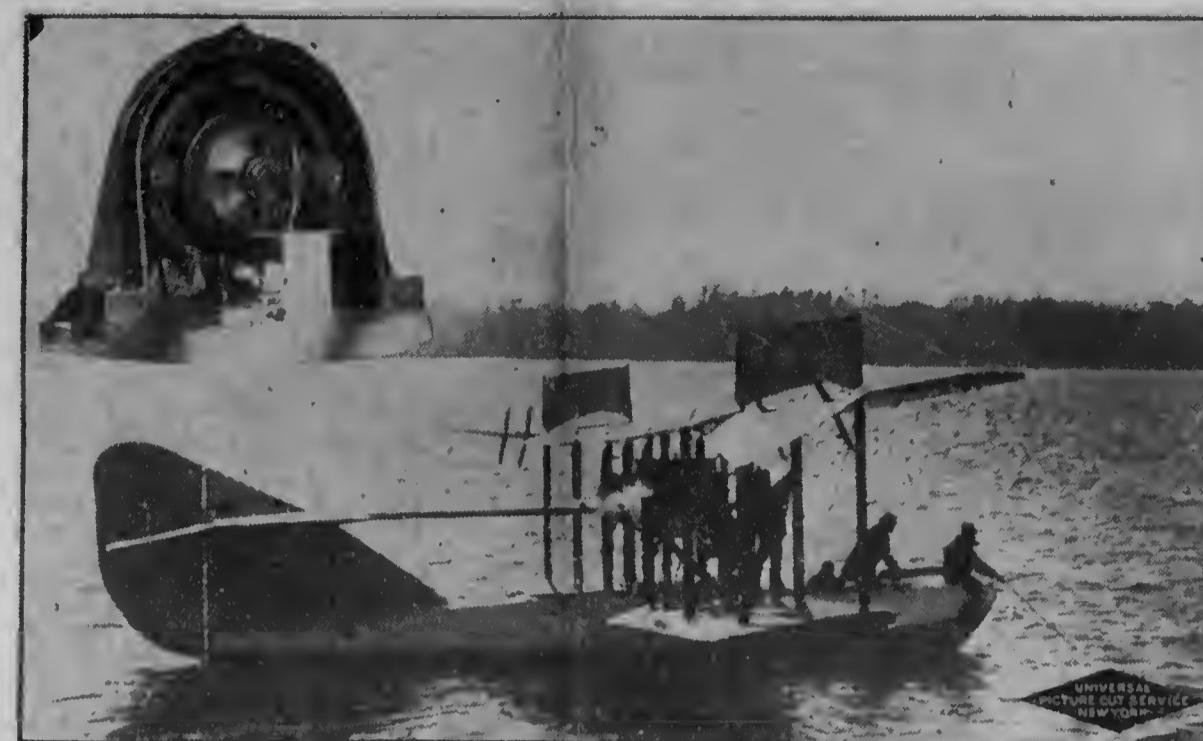

Division 1, A. O. H., held its last meeting of the year on Thursday of last week, with President Mark Ryan in the chair, and all the officers present. The faithful old guard, who never fail to attend the meetings and are ever active in the welfare of Ancient Order of Hibernians, were conspicuous on this occasion—the final meeting. During the past year the officers and members of Division 1 had in contemplation the merging with other divisions, as has been done in other large cities by various divisions, it being a great saving in expenses and a source of much increase in funds for charitable purposes. At the last meeting the members, without a dissenting voice, resolved to discontinue meetings of Division 1 and have each member deposit his transfer card with Divisions 3 or 4, according to convenience and choice. After allowing bills and completing the business the meeting adjourned sine die.

IRISH DRAFT

Mrs. Francis Sheehy Skeffington Declares It on the Way.

Lloyd George's Compromise Covers Plan to Force Conscription.

Plan of Venal Politicians on Both Sides of Irish Sea.

ARTIFICIAL FAMINE CREATED

"Conscription is scheduled to come into operation in Ireland and much sooner than many people expect," says Mrs. Francis Sheehy Skeffington, widow of the writer who was killed by the British in Dublin last spring. She is now visiting in New York. "Since the failure of his plan for settling the Irish problem last summer, on a partial home-rule-partition basis," she said, "Lloyd-George has been negotiating with the Irish party for a compromise. Martial law has failed to terrorize or subdue the Irish people, and 'diplomacy' is to be tried again. Appointment of a Catholic, Sir Bryan Mahon, as commander of the forces in Ireland, was calculated to alleviate public feeling, but the Irish people ignored the exchange of dictators. Martial law is no less martial because administered by a Catholic."

"Now the interned Irish prisoners are to be released from the disease-breeding detention camps, and Ireland is expected to forget Easter week in a paroxysm of jubilation over the event. Thus is the 'better understanding' to be brought about. The monstrous injustice of imprisoning for months hundreds of men who had no connection with the revolution, against whom no charge has yet been made, and who have never been accorded a trial, is to be discounted by the magnanimity of Lloyd-George's release order. The prisoners tried and sentenced to long terms of imprisonment—many of them for life—will be forced to rot out their lives in Dartmoor and other penal colonies, herding with the lowest and most vicious of criminals."

"Under cover of the good feeling thus engendered, negotiations will be reopened in which Lloyd-George's scheme for conscription may be foisted on a gullible people in exchange for an attenuated measure of local autonomy. Shorn of 150,000 of her best men, the last virile remnant of her people, Ireland's hopes of national regeneration will be forever crushed, her recuperative powers destroyed, her civilization banished from the earth, her soul bartered for shekels and her existence as a national entity terminated in common with the downfall of her destroyer. Such is the plan of venal politicians on both sides of the Irish Sea. But the young men of Ireland will upset all these calculations. Lloyd-George will be forced to show his hand, and he is an avowed advocate of conscription for Ireland. Whether force will accomplish the desired end is not so much the question as whether Lloyd-George will have the hardihood to attempt it. Young Ireland will have none of it."

"The politicians as usual are open to compromise. They stand idly by and see the country drained of its food supplies and a condition of artificial famine created which it is hoped will be a potent factor in forcing conscription on our people. The last ounce of food, the last able-bodied man in Ireland will be commandeered for England's military needs, its resources drained to the last and the entire nation sacrificed on the altar of England's greed and Lloyd-George's ambition."

"The contrast between the two countries is really remarkable. In Great Britain, where I traveled extensively during the summer and autumn, I was forcibly struck by—and as a feminist greatly interested—the extent to which women have supplanted men in all fields of endeavor. On tram cars, bread vans, grocery wagons, on milk carts, as in the munition shops, they appeared equally at ease and quite capable of retaining their positions in the face of male rivalry, which must of necessity become acute at the termination of hostilities. The absence of able-bodied men of military age is the outstanding feature of life in Great Britain. In Ireland it is so different. Not even in loyal Belfast is there a single woman tram car conductor. The percentage of Irishmen available for military service, which previous to the war was far below that of Great Britain—owing to the abnormal emigration from Ireland—is now reversed, and Ireland's percentage is far above that of her neighbors."

RECENT DEATHS.

Sincere sympathy is extended Lawrence Helm, 228 Spring street, whose wife, Anna Helm, died Sunday afternoon. Surviving her are four sons, August, Julius, John and Charles Helm, and three daughters, Miss Lena Helm, Mrs. John Bassler and Mrs. William Nalley. The funeral was held Wednesday morning from St. Joseph's church, attended by many sorrowing friends.

Miss Mary Donahue closed a well spent life Monday afternoon at the home of her sister, Mrs. Chmire J. Doss, 128 North Clay street, leaving several brothers and sisters to mourn her death. She was sixty-seven years old and was active until her health began to fail seven months ago. The funeral was held Wednesday morning from St. John's church, where she had been for many years a devout member.

The funeral of Miss Florence M. Thielman, the twenty-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Thielman, was held Wednesday morning from St. Boniface church, of which she was a devout and popular member. She had been ill for a complication of diseases, but was prepared for the final summons. Besides her parents she leaves four brothers and four sisters, to whom many tender sympathy.

Mrs. Pauline Herm Wagner, beloved wife of Edward H. Wagner, President of J. F. Wagner's Sons Company, died Wednesday morning in her home, 1227 South Sixth street, following a two months' illness of a complication of diseases. Mrs. Wagner was a native of this city and for years had been an active member of the Altar Society of St. Louis Bertrand's church, from where her funeral took place yesterday morning. Besides her husband, she is survived by three sons, Edward J. Oscar W. and Charles H. Wagner; a sister, Mrs. Gus Merz, and a brother, Joseph Herm, all of this city.

A hush of sorrow overspread the entire West End when the sad news of the death of Frank Brotzgo became known. His death was sudden, due to heart attack Saturday night at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Peter Schork, 2115 Dunbar street, and hence came as a shock to his many friends in the city. Mr. Brotzgo was born in Tyrol, Switzerland, eighty-two years ago, but came to the United States when sixteen years old. For many years he was an iron finisher and was popular with his fellow workers. He is survived by three sons, Charles Brotzgo, of the firm of Cunningham, Lewis & Brotzgo; Frank A. and Antonia Brotzgo, and Mrs. A. M. Schneider. Fourteen grandchildren and six great grandchildren survive. The funeral was held Tuesday morning from St. Anthony's church and was very well attended.

ANOTHER DOMINICAN COLLEGE

Rev. D. A. Casey, O. P., for a number of years President of Aquinas College at Columbus, Ohio, will leave shortly for Providence, R. I., where a new Dominican college is to be known as Providence College. Father Casey will superintend the building of the new structure and will likely be appointed its first President. Seventeen acres of land have been donated by the Bishop of Providence and the erection of the first building will be hurried as much as possible.

PLUNKETT

Confident New British Government Will Settle Irish Question.

Conscription Impractical and Could Never Be Carried Through.

Home Rule Is Now a Matter Between Sections of Ireland.

PARLIAMENT TO MAKE LAWS

Sir Horace Plunkett, one of the foremost leaders of Irish sentiment and who has the confidence of every section of Irish politics, including Ulster, who recently arrived in New York, is confident that the new British Government will succeed in bringing the Irish question to a settlement. Among the several features of the Irish problem which Sir Horace believes should and will be solved by proper handling are these: "A government in Ireland which will do away with the necessity for martial law. The adoption of other measures than conscription, conscription in Ireland itself being impracticable. Sacrifice on the part of the Irish sections over the home rule issue." Sir Horace has appealed to Ulster to join at once with Nationalist Ireland and give home rule a trial for five years.

"Conscription is impracticable. I do not believe it could be carried through. It would take more soldiers to attempt to carry it out than would be realized by the levy. There are other measures which will be more successful. When Irishmen have lost their local point of view and have been afforded an opportunity to gauge the importance of this struggle unaffected by prejudices of a political nature, it will not be possible to keep them out of Europe. Home rule is of course not now a question between Ireland and England, but one between sections of Ireland. The ideal of a united Ireland is not to be abandoned and I am convinced that those who have held to the ideal will not be appeased by the gift of half a Parliament to three-quarters of the country.

"A recent proposal for settlement of the Irish question suggested a provisional and wholly Irish system of administration formed to carry on the business of Irish government for the duration of the war without prejudice to whatever solution of the major problem may be found possible thereafter. Ulster herself might solve the problem. It is a time when we need to close our ranks. Ulster and Ulster alone can do a service which the British empire would never forget. Let the people of Ulster say that they will join with the Nationalist Ireland and give home rule its trial—for five years—now. If they do so they need not fear the future, for they will quicken every generous feeling in Ireland and send a pulse of life and hope through the whole empire. Will Ulster lead again?

"Ulster has given such services that hers is the right to be consulted. The Ulster men are busy in active pursuits and it was not realized how strong their convictions were on the subject. They were not the kind to waste time on a problem until it became of practical importance. Now will the practical grasp that they have of affairs induce Ulster to make the sacrifice to meet the present difficulty? I believe that if Ulster tried home rule she would stay in the Irish Parliament at the expiration of five years' trial, even if she went in with a representation no larger than that demanded by her numerical importance, much less than that required because of her financial and industrial importance.

"I was convinced that the Lloyd-George proposal for settlement of the Irish question by which twenty-six counties were to have home rule at once would not solve the difficulty, would not diminish the necessity for martial law, and on the contrary would play into the hands of the Sinn Fein group. I urged a provisional government which would do away with the necessity for home rule. My proposal was that the Irish government, so to speak, should go into commission. Let its administration be placed in the hands of an executive council consisting of Irishmen of recognized standing drawn from different parts of Ireland and fairly representative of the main interests and currents of opinion in the country. I suggested that Ulster, on account of its industrial and commercial importance, should be given representation beyond what its numerical strength would demand. Any Irish legislation would remain in the Imperial Parliament where it would be looked after by the Irish representatives. The council would be nominated by the Prime Minister, in connection with leaders of the Irish sections. The chief executive officer of the Irish government would be a Secretary of State for Ireland, would have a seat in the Cabinet and be responsible for Irish Parliamentary business, questions, estimates, legislation. It may be that a provisional adjustment of the Irish question will be settled in another way, but the real advantages of such a provisional government should be borne in mind. It would afford the first chance we have had of getting North and South Ireland together in the actual work of Irish government. From the Nationalist point of view it would be well to have at the end of the war a government which would automatically disappear and leave the ground clear for the new regime."

INTENTIONS WERE GOOD.

A certain young real estate man who resides on East Breckinridge street was pretty near a hero one night during the holidays. Answering the phone about 9 o'clock one evening he was startled to discover the agonizing voice of a dear young lady friend and neighbor who begged him to come to her protection at once, as she believed there were burglars in the house and the rest of the family were out. Our hero hastily grabbed a pistol without looking and galloped madly to the rescue just like in a moving picture reel. No trace of burglars were found and after everything had calmed down it was discovered that the rescuer was armed with a toy water pistol which was given to one of the children for a Christmas present and which he grabbed in his haste without examining. But just like moving pictures, the episode turned out happily.

OLDEST PARISH.

Florida has the distinction of being the cradle-land of Catholicity on the North American continent. The missionaries sent out by Spain kept pace in their peaceful victories of the gospel with the extraordinary conquests effected by Spanish arms in the subjugation of the vast territories of the New World to the crown of Castile and Leon. The landing of Ponce de Leon on the shores of Florida on Low Sunday, April 3, 1513, is the first historical authentication of presence of Europeans in the territory now comprising the United States. Probably no religious accompanied him on this expedition. In 1521 an attempt at colonization was made by Ponce, who sailed with a company of colonists, among whom were some priests. The probable location of this short-lived colony was Charlotte Harbor on the west coast of Florida; this is therefore the spot where the holy sacrifice was offered up in our country for the first time. Not till 1565, however, was a permanent colonization effected, when Menendez founded St. Augustine, which is thus the oldest parish of the United States. The interval of fifty years between Ponce and Menendez exhibits a persistent but fruitless attempt to establish the cross on the soil of Florida.

TROUBLE FOR FLORIDA.

The Rev. Sidney J. Catts, Baptist minister, who came to Florida four years ago, was on Tuesday inaugurated Governor at Tallahassee. In his address he pledged himself to State-wide prohibition and urged the passage of a law providing for police inspection of parochial schools, convents and nunneries. Poor Florida! Her troubles have surely begun—troubles that will bring the State into disrepute and inflict incalculable harm.

SPURN PEACE.

As long as the Entente Allies believe that they can wear out Germany they will not consider peace terms. That they still are confident that they can win in the end is shown by the declaration of Czar Nicholas that Germany wants peace because she fears that she can hold out only for a short time. This may be true and it may not. To an outsider it appears that Germany can now hold out longer than her enemies. But that does not affect the question of peace which the Allies believe they can dictate when they choose. At any rate, they do not want peace now.

UNSATISFACTORY.

All must agree with the True Voice that carrying on negotiations with Carranza seems to get us nowhere in adjusting the Mexican muddle. The administration at Washington is still patiently waiting on the pleasure of the "de facto" incorrigible, who must be laughing up his sleeve at "gringo" credulity. While the time limit set for the approval of the protocol drawn by the Mexican-American Commission has expired, Washington is still hoping that Carranza will come to terms. Refusal to accept the terms of the agreement under which American troops would be withdrawn from Chihuahua means the closing of negotiations through the joint commission for adjustment of the questions at issue between the United States and the de facto government of Mexico. What effect the new situation then presented would have on the policy of the United States is not known, but it is likely that any further move will be made through the usual channels and not by the commission, which for more than three months attempted to effect an amicable settlement. It may be that Pershing's force will be recalled to this side of the border without even the formality of an agreement. We will then be in precisely the same position we were in a year ago, except that the Villa bandit force has grown much more formidable in that time, and as Villa has increased in power bandit Carranza has decreased. But we are still tied to the latter bandit. It is reported from Washington that representatives of this Government who are most familiar with the recent conferences with Carranza representatives are totally disgusted with Carranza and the men whom he sent to represent his cause. They feel that it is virtually useless to continue discussions of the situation because neither Carranza nor his representatives can speak for more than a handful of grafting generals and professional patriots whose principal concern is to fill their own coffers at the expense of the peons.

PAPERS NEEDED.

That Catholic literature is really necessary to the Catholic people of small towns is evidenced by the many letters that come to the Catholic Church Extension Society from missionaries in charge of outlying districts of the country requesting the Extension Society to secure literature for distribution among their parishioners. Rarely if ever in some rural districts can you find a Catholic paper or book of any description. This is due no doubt to the fact that in most cases these people are just about making a living and do not feel as though they can even spare the small amount that it costs to subscribe to some good Catholic paper. Without Catholic reading matter and with mass perhaps but once a month, is there any wonder that these people are often not as devout Catholics as they should be? Donations for the purchase of Catholic papers and literature will be gratefully received by the Catholic Church Extension Society, 750 McCormick building, Chicago, Ill.

ENGLAND'S BLUNDER.

The following letter to the New York World pretty aptly sizes up the present feeling between England and Ireland and its people and descendants wherever they may be: Your editorial "Too Late," referring to the release of Irish political prisoners by England, is the truth. But it is another blunder of the many English blunders in Ireland. Suppose that thirty, twenty, ten or five years ago England had given to Ireland a full measure of self-government, is there any person who believes that England's present position in this war would be as it is now? Ireland would have been the first colony to send half a million men to the front. The Irish throughout the world would be with England in this fight, for in doing so they would be preserving their independence by preserving England's. As Castlereagh said; "England will fire the last shot in the last gun before Ireland is free." It looks very much as if he were a true prophet.

ECLIPSES.

There will be four eclipses of the sun and three of the moon visible in the United States, the greatest number possible in a single year, in 1917, according to a memorandum issued by the Naval Observatory. The last year in which seven eclipses came was early in the last century, and the next will be in 1935. On January 8 there will be a total eclipse of the moon by the earth's shadow, visible throughout the United States, beginning at 12:50 a. m. and ending at 4:30 a. m. Eastern Standard Time. Between 2 and 3:29 a. m. Eastern time, the eclipse will be total.

ON DADDY'S LAP.

When the shades of night have fallen,
When the sun has gone to sleep,
And the stars like diamonds brilliant.
From the blue begin to peep,
In my favorite chair I'm seated;
On the door a gentle tap,
And dear voices break the silence,
Want to sit on daddy's lap!"

So I lay aside my paper,
Though I'd like to scan it o'er,
And a lad's gained either shoulder.
Ask a story—"Just one more."
Then I tell them "Orphan Annie,"
"Doodle Bug," "Three Bears,"
"Mayhap,"
Till the place is filled with laughter.
When they sit on daddy's lap.

Then we drift to Bible stories,
Of the Christ, the spotless One.
Eyes are closed, the lips are silent,
And my gladness task is done,
To the land of Nod they're journeyed.

This is no fitful, restless nap;
For the night they're safely anchored—Fast asleep on daddy's lap.

And I sit here, in the firelight,
Dreaming dreams of future years,
Of my babies—such no longer—
Till my eyes are wet with tears,
And a prayer ascends to heaven;
"Father, bless each little chap,
Keep him pure, as at this moment,
Safe at rest on daddy's lap."

GEN. LOGAN'S WIDOW.

In the convention of Catholic Alumnae Mrs. John A. Logan was a notable figure, and in a conversation at a luncheon at the Sisters' College told of her life in a Kentucky convent. This convent, known to every Kentuckian, whether Catholic or Protestant, is that of St. Vincent's, Union county, and is one of the historic and ideal spots of a State universally praised for its pastoral and picturesque beauty. The grounds comprise some six hundred acres. The drive, a magnificent sweep of road from gate to the porte-cochere, is overshadowed by giant oaks. Calm dignity, coolness and southern gracious hospitality are all combined in the effect upon a visitor to this academy. Across the road from the school is the ancient Church of the Sacred Heart, where many historic priests have knelt before the altar that shows the stains of time. In the convent the girls from many of Kentucky's most famous families have been taught the love of books, music and how to best use the social grace that so many of St. Vincent's graduates have been famous for when they have passed from school to homes of their own, and nowhere else will you find the practical Catholic so devout, yet so gracefully unconscious of the world during the devotions and so graciously aware of it when dealing with some social function. Among the names of great families known in this school, the one of Spalding is justly treasured. Seldom has a term passed since its foundation without the school having some member of the Spalding family in it, says Sallie M. O'Malley in the Syracuse Sun.

NEW ALBANY

Division 1, A. O. H., of New Albany, at its last meeting elected officers to serve for the next two years, with the Rev. Dean Curran and Rev. Father George Scheldren as Chaplains. The Floyd County Board officers are Richard Fleming, President; Nicholas Seery, Vice President; John J. Coyle, Secretary, and Thomas Skelly, Treasurer. The Division officers elected are Daniel Walsh, Sr., President; Patrick O'Connor, Vice President; Thomas Tighe, Financial Secretary; John J. Coyle, Recording Secretary; John McGarrett, Treasurer; Edward Cavanaugh, Sergeant-at-Arms; Daniel Carrick, Sr., Doorkeeper; James Thomas, Marshal.

COMIC OPERA.

The comic opera "Pinafore" given by St. Martin's Sodality Club the latter part of November, proved to be such a success that the club has decided to repeat it for the benefit of St. Marlin's church on Sunday night, January 14. It will be presented at St. Marlin's Hall, Shelby and Gray, and will include a splendid cast.

CONCORDIA SINGING SOCIETY.

The Concordia Singing Society, one of the pioneer musical organizations of this country, will celebrate its diamond jubilee at the Tyler Hotel on January 23. The Concordia has an enviable record, having taken part in the principal religious and civic events in Louisville since its organization.

LEAVES NEW ALBANY.

John Riley, well known in New Albany and Southern Indiana, left Wednesday for Dayton, Ohio, where he will take a position in the mechanical engineering department of that city.

SENIOR BISHOP.

The recent consistory in Rome has drawn attention to the fact that Cardinal Gibbons is now the senior Bishop of the whole Catholic world.

CHURCH BURNED.

St. Bernard's church at Rockport, Ind., caught fire from a Christmas tree New Year's day and was totally destroyed. The loss is $20,000, partly covered by insurance. Rev. Francis Schaub is the pastor, and for him and his flock the people of that section of Indiana have a sincere sympathy.

MAYSVILLE.

Patrick H. Breen, aged seventy-three years, born in County Wexford, Ireland, died at his home in Maysville on Tuesday after a few days' illness of pneumonia. He had the distinction of having been in the employ of one firm longer than any other man there, being with the W. B. Matthews Lumber Company for forty-three years. He is survived by three children, Mrs. Roger Devine, of Cleveland; Edward Breen, of Louisville; and Thomas Breen, of Maysville.

COSTLY GIFTS.

St. Cecilia's pro-Cathedral, in process of construction at Omaha, is to be enriched by gifts from several prominent Omaha Catholic families. The Hamilton family will make a gift of the marble altar, while the pulpit, also of marble, will be presented by the Coad family. The Bishop's throne will be the gift of Mrs. Ben Gallagher, and Frank Burkley will give the organ. Work on the interior will be pushed as rapidly as possible, so that the Cathedral may be in readiness for Easter Sunday. It is believed by experts that when the building is finished the acoustics will be absolutely perfect.

SCHWAB'S BIG PROMISE.

Charles M. Schwab has informed Baltimore friends that he will endow St. Francis' College at Loretto, Pa., near Altoona, his alma mater, with $2,000,000. The larger part of the gift is to be devoted to the erection of new buildings. The college is conducted by the Franciscans.

AMERICA HONORED.

At Nazareth in the Holy Land the Franciscan fathers have given their new convent and church the name of "Our Lady of America."

HIBERNIANS.

What They Have Been Doing
the Past Week—General News Notes.

Division 1 of New Albany is flourishing.

Two good divisions are sufficient for Louisville.

Members of Division 1 found it hard to say good-bye.

With regret many say farewell to Division 1. May they never realize their loss.

The newly-elected officers of Division 4 will be installed next Monday night.

The Ladies' Auxiliary of Waterbury, Conn., will celebrate with an open meeting February 2.

New Albany Hibernians will keep Dick Fenning as County President, as long as he will consent to serve.

Plans are now being made by Division 1 of Hamilton, Ohio, for the celebration of St. Patrick's day.

County President Hennessy will have frequent meetings of the County Board for the St. Patrick's day celebration.

John M. Riley, the newly-elected President of Division 3, says he intends to set a hustling pace for the members to follow.

County President Hennessy installed the officers of Division 3 last night and was accompanied by a delegation from Division 4.

Dan Walsh has been the President of Division 1 of New Albany since the time when many of its elderly members were boys.

Division 1 of Minneapolis has elected P. V. O'Donnell as President.
Reports show this division to be one of the best in Hennepin county.

The men who will not attend meetings are not true Hibernians.
Neither are those who manifest no interest only when they appear in the limelight.

Joint committees this week put the finishing touches on the programme for what will make one of the biggest Hibernian gatherings ever held in Minneapolis.

Patrick J. Maher, elected Financial Secretary of Division 1 of Wayne county, Ind., for the thirty-third term, is the oldest official in continuous service of the order in the world.

Michael Fleming was chosen Division
President and W. I. Branigan County President at the annual meeting at Emmetsburg, Iowa.
They are capable men and will strengthen the order.

Division 1 of Omaha, after re-electing all its old officers, began arrangements to increase the membership and also named the committee that will prepare the programme for St. Patrick's day.

TRINITY INSTALLS OFFICERS.

Council Deputy William Goda installed the newly-elected officers of Trinity Council Y. M. I. last Monday evening at the club house,
Baxter and Morton avenues. Rev.
Father O'Grady, the council chaplain, delivered a short address on the merits of the order and paid a glowing tribute to B. J. Sandman, the retiring President, complimenting him on the progress of Trinity Council during his administration. The Athletic Committee announced that the tennis tournament was still progressing and invited the members and their friends to see the games which are played every Sunday morning. President H. J. Hennessy will announce his committees at the next meeting.

Notice to Taxpayers.

The County Board of Tax Supervisors will meet in the office of the County Assessor, Courthouse (fourth floor), daily between the hours of 10 o'clock a. m. and 12 o'clock noon, for the purpose of equalizing the assessment of real and personal property for 1917 taxes.

In the absence of the board complaints may be filed with the secretary of the board between the hours of 8 o'clock a. m. and 5 o'clock p. m.

The board will meet for thirty days and adjourn February 3, 1917.

most $7,000,000.

Rev. E. J. Mannix, Colorado
State Chaplain, of the Denver Cathedral parish, will be the principal speaker when a large class of candidates will be taken in at Trinidad on January 14.

Two of the important committees for the inauguration of President Wilson will have for Chairmen
James S. Eashy-Smith and Daniel J. Callahan, two well-known members of Washington Council.

President Cammack, of the Kan-

MEMORIAL

Margaret Kilkenny, Who Died
January 3, 1916.

One year has passed in silence,
Our home with a guide line,
We feel the blight of loneliness,
Since you were taken from our side.

While we know we should not murmur Against God's holy will,
Your place is always vacant.
That place we can not fill.

We miss your words in counsel,
We miss your loving smile,
We miss your care and tenderness,
We miss you all the while.

We know your home is heaven,
Of that we rest assured,
For your loving disposition,
And your heart were always pure.

We little knew of trouble
And difficulties we'd face us
No trial on earth could shake us
With companionship so fair.

Death alone could cause
A cloud so dark for me;

That vacant chair, that lonely home,
Is all that I can see.

A ray of hope is left for me.

Which is sure for every one,
When I am called to meet you,

When my life's work is done.

J. J. KILKENNY AND CHILDREN.

RETURN THANKS.

The Sisters of the Good Shepherd, Bank street, and their several hundred children return most grateful thanks to all the kind persons who helped to make their Christmas a happy one by the purchase of the little Xmas seals sent out, and to all who helped in any way.
All is truly appreciated, and daily prayers shall be offered for them that God may bless and reward them and return them their charity a hundred-fold.

The big holiday event in Knights of Columbus circles in Omaha was the Christmas tree at the Orphanage.

The connel at Richmond, Ind., ended the year by conferring the first degree on a representative class.

The Knights of Wisconsin are going to stage a State bowling tournament at Milwaukee, where they have four big leagues.

More than 1,300 orphans, regardless of creed, were gladdened by the Christmas tree entertainment provided for them by the Knights of New Orleans.

The Knights of Little Rock attended special services in the Cathedral Sunday night. Monsignor Tobin preached the sermon and various priests were present.
